MORSE & COMPANY,

BANGOR, MAINE.

It s the easiest thing in the world to find a gentleman's shoe for $3 00 | Every store in town has them You can find shoes for $100, or less of you want that kind

There's a Shoe for $3.00

in this store that's good enough and stylish enough to fif the needs of gentlemen who think a desnable shoe can't be sold at that price Bring in a shoe that costs $4.00 somewhere else, and lay it alongside this $3.00 shoe of mino Chances are you'll say the latter is the better finish and more stylish. These $3.00 shoes come in the new razor toe, with the broad extension edge and also the close edge.

I also have at the same piece the Opera, Greenan,

London and Globe toes
Somewhere among all these styles there is a ran of shoes to fit every man's feet. You can get more satisfaction here for $3.00 than you ever got before

Little Now' Being Brought Out in the Trial at Hashua

NASHUA, N. H., May 20. The trial of Dr J. C. Moore was resumed trials. Frank N. Rollins and John H. Riedell, original incorporators of the Union Publishing Company, test fi d to the incorporation was the trecords of the coope before the artibles of incorporation were filed. There was some dispute over patting in the records and theiderence filed exceptions.

Previous to adjournment at the moon hour, Mry. Anule McEllroy, dist, loft the Union Publishing Co., testified as to the entries a aide of blocks under Dr. Moore's direction, her testimony bring the same as in the previous trial.

The trial dragged slowly along this formoon with occasional wordy contests between he Attorneys as to the admittance of evidence. Attorney Steater, for the defence has made a warrous objections during every part of the testimopy relating to the records of meetings lof the Union Company, the point being that there is, a flaw in the records of the intuition of the Union Company, the point being that there is, a flaw in the records of the intuition. The trial dragged is nest more witnesses, and these like the others will testify as to the records and the issuing and holding of stock of the Union Fullishing Co.

IN WALL STREET.

Approaching Hollday Kept Speculation Down-New York, May 29.—Wall Street dimit speculation at the stock exchange this morning but the undertone of the ularket was firm. The slight improvement in American securities abroad, and the text that no gold engagements were ahomused, induced some of the smaller shorts to cover and a rise of 1/k to 3k per cent. followed. The improvement was also due in part to Judge Wilceler's decision, deciaring the new Joint Traffic Association legal. Commission houses were advising clients to buy stocks on this and assert that it is bound to have an excellent leffect on railway propertion latter on. The fact that no gold had been changed up to 11 o'clock, was said to be due to the fact that exporters were withing to learn from the directors of the mint in golation to the premium, on birs. Bankers thought, however, that is million or is will go on Saturday, no matter whether treasury officials reduce the rate or not. MURPHY SENTENCED
To Not Less than Ten Years in State Prison.
Salem, Mass., May 29. Charence
Murphy exteller of the Salem Savings Rink, who was yesteday convicted of the embezzlement; of Si7,000 of the bank's funds, was this morning sintenced to not less that ten years and not more than fifted in prison.
District Attorney White, in moving sentence, said he had nothing to add to what he said in the evidence except that he was prepared to show that Murphy had been somewhat of a gambler in Calfornia.

had been somewhat of a gambler in Cattornia.

Mr. Hurthurt, for the defense, spill that he only asked for leniexcy for the defendant or the ground of his being a young mair. He sise said that the stealing of the trensurer was a great temptation for Murphy to begin and that what the defendant was now he would not be when he came out of prison, also that mankind was a great deal severer than the Redeemer.

the Redeemer. Judge Shorman said he hoped overy body with a position of trust would learn a leason from the case and that no doub! Mr. Morphy was tempted by the treas-urez. In aggravation, he said, it was not a single temptation but sixty-five distinct a single templation but sixty-five distinct acts.

The court said he would feel different about the case if Murphy, when arrested, had shown repeatance tout after weeks of thinking it over he had got himself up to the point of taking the stand and committing penjary, putting the whole matter on the dead man, who had caough to curry on his account. This was the meanest thing if dil. It was, however, to his credit that he had said that no other officer in the bank besides himself and the treasurer was guilty, thus relieving them from any suspicion. He has, given the matter much thought as to the sentence and it was sevident from the first that there could be but one outcome to the case.

Murphy took his sectence very coolly, not even chapging color.

"A British Gentleman." It is almost impossible to exaggerate the usefulness of the expression, "a British gentleman." When Jones asks one at one's club what sort of a fellow Briggs is, bode of the what sore to reply. The conscion tions man, anxious to be very correct, has sometimes had to eke out an imported non-neclature by suchromadabout phrase as, "Well, I wouldn't for a moment say as, "Woll, I wouldn't for a moment say that he wasn't a thorough English gentle-man, because he is in a sense, but if you man, because he is: in a sense, but if you said that he wasn't, though I shouldn't altogether agree, I should know quite well what you ineant." That is terrible clumsy and roundabout. Now, when Jones asks the question, one will be able to say straight out. "Oh, he is a very good sort of chap—the typical! English goutloman!" How convenient, too, the new expression will be for the dramatists and the novelists.

For ourselves, we shall make no attemps at a complete analysis of the British gendeman. It is not necessary. One or two
